

Waha Nui

By Carol Chang

March 12, 2008 - MidWeek The Islander

E-mail this story | Print this page | Comments \(0\) | Archive XML | RSS | Del.icio.us

Returning recently to the scene of Kahaluu Neighborhood Board's planting project (reported in the March 5 Windward Islander), David Henkin and Jessica Wooley discovered nearly one-fourth of the 400 naupaka plants had either been chopped off or yanked out of the ground and tossed into Waihee marsh. Volunteers installed the fledgling hedge along Kamehameha Highway Feb. 16 to protect wandering birds. So David and Jessica logged in three more hours replanting the vandalized greenery ...